

CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT AND ETHICS
AMERICAS GOLD AND SILVER CORPORATION

1. General

The Board of Directors (the “Board”) has adopted this Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (the “Code”) for Americas Gold and Silver Corporation and its subsidiaries (the “Company”), which is designed to provide guidance on the conduct of the Company’s business in accordance with high ethical standards. As a public company, the Company must not only conduct, but must also be seen to conduct, its business in accordance with such high ethical standards. The Code constitutes written standards that are reasonably designed to promote integrity, to deter wrongdoing and to address the fundamental principles set out in Section 2.

- (a) Scope and Application of the Code – This Code covers a wide range of business practices and procedures. It does not cover every issue that may arise, but sets out basic principles to guide all directors, officers and employees of the Company and other persons in similar relationships with the Company (collectively, with the directors, officers and employees of the Company, “Company Personnel”).<sup>1</sup> All Company Personnel must conduct themselves accordingly and seek to avoid even the appearance of improper behavior. We intend that the Company’s business practices will be compatible with the economic and social priorities of each location in which we operate, provided that honesty and integrity must always characterize our business activity. If a law conflicts with a policy in this Code, you must comply with the law; however, if a local custom or policy conflicts with this Code, you must comply with the Code.
- (b) Consequences of Violating the Code – Company Personnel who violate the standards in this Code will be subject to disciplinary action, which could include the termination of their employment or other relationship with the Company.
- (c) Monitoring Compliance and Reporting – The Board is ultimately responsible for monitoring compliance with the Code. If you are in a situation that you believe may violate or lead to a violation of this Code, follow the guidelines described in Annex A “Compliance Procedures”. Mechanisms for reporting actual or potential violations of the Code are set out in the Company’s Whistleblower Policy.

2. Purpose and Fundamental Principles – The purpose of the Code is to:

- (a) Promote compliance with applicable laws, rules and regulations;
- (b) Promote accountability for adherence to this Code and help foster the Company’s culture of honesty and accountability;
- (c) Promote the prompt internal reporting to an appropriate person of violations of this Code and provide mechanisms to report any illegal or unethical conduct;

<sup>1</sup> For the purposes of this Policy “employees” includes all permanent, contract, secondment and temporary agency employees who are on long-term assignments with the Company, as well as to consultants to the Company.

- (d) Promote honest and ethical conduct, including the ethical handling of actual or apparent conflicts of interest between personal and professional relationships;
- (e) Promote avoidance of conflicts of interest, including disclosure to an appropriate person of any material transaction or relationship that reasonably could be expected to give rise to such a conflict;
- (f) Promote fair dealing with the Company's security holders, customers, suppliers, competitors and employees;
- (g) Promote the protection and proper use of corporate assets and opportunities;
- (h) Protect the confidentiality of corporate information; and
- (i) Provide guidance to Company Personnel to help them recognize and deal with ethical issues.

3. Legal Compliance and Compliance with Company Policies

- (a) Company Personnel are expected to comply in good faith at all times with all applicable laws, rules and regulations as well as this Code and all other policies and procedures applicable to them that are adopted by the Company from time to time.
- (b) All Company Personnel are charged with the responsibility for acquiring sufficient knowledge of the laws involved in each area relating to their particular duties.
- (c) Company Personnel must cooperate fully with (i) those responsible for preparing reports filed with the securities regulatory authorities and all other materials that are made available to the investing public to ensure those persons are aware in a timely manner of all information that is required to be disclosed; (ii) independent auditors in their audits and in assisting in the preparation of financial disclosure; and (iii) any internal investigation of a violation of this Code or conduct that is otherwise illegal or unethical.

4. Third Party Relationships

- (a) Conflicts of Interest – Company Personnel are required to act with honesty and integrity and to avoid any relationship or activity that might create, or appear to create, a conflict between their personal interests and the interests of the Company.
  - (i) A conflict of interest can arise when Company Personnel take actions or have interests that may make it difficult for them to perform their work for the Company objectively and effectively. Such conflicting loyalties can cause a person to give preference to personal interests in situations where corporate responsibilities should come first. Company Personnel shall perform the responsibilities of their positions on the basis of what is in the best interests of the Company, free from the influence of personal considerations and relationships.

- (ii) As a general matter Company Personnel are not allowed to work for a competitor or a person with whom the Company has a business relationship because of the potential for conflicts of interest. The best policy is to avoid any direct or indirect business relationship (except on behalf of the Company) with competitors of the Company or persons with whom the Company has business relationships. Directors may serve on the Boards of other organizations providing they do not reduce a director's effectiveness or result in a continuing conflict of interest.
- (iii) Conflicts of interest are prohibited as a matter of Company policy, except under guidelines approved by the Board. Conflicts of interest may not always be clear-cut. Any Company Personnel who become aware of a conflict or potential conflict should consult the procedures described in Annex A "Compliance Procedures". For example no Company Personnel shall:
  - Have any financial interest, or have immediate relatives who have any financial interest, including significant share ownership, in any entity with which we do business that might create or give the appearance of a conflict of interest;
  - Seek or accept any personal loan or services from any entity with which we do business, except from financial institutions or service providers offering similar loans or services to third parties under similar terms in the ordinary course of their respective businesses; or
  - Stake mineral claims or acquire mineral properties in their own interest or in the interest of any syndicate not owned, controlled or directed by the Company within 15 kilometers of any of the Company's mineral properties.
- (iv) If you have a question, you should consult with the General Counsel of the Company. Proposed affiliations between Company Personnel and any entity that has a relationship with the Company or other potential conflict of interest situations may need to be reviewed and approved by the Chair of the Compensation and Corporate Governance Committee or the Board as appropriate.

(b) Giving and Receiving Gifts or Other Payments

- (i) Business gifts (including entertainment or other benefits) may be customary courtesies designed to build goodwill and constructive relationships among business partners. However, a problem may arise when these courtesies compromise, or appear to compromise, the Company's ability to make fair and objective business decisions or to gain an unfair advantage.
- (ii) Company Personnel or their immediate families shall not use their position with the Company to solicit any gift, free service or other reward or benefit from any Company customer, supplier or contractor for their or their immediate family or friend's personal benefit. Gifts, free services or other rewards or benefits from others should not be accepted if they could be reasonably considered to be extravagant for the Company Personnel who receives it, or otherwise improperly influence the Company's business relationship with or create an obligation to a customer, supplier or contractor.

- (iii) No gift should ever be offered, given, provided, authorized or accepted by any Company Personnel or their family members unless it is not a cash gift, is consistent with customary business practices, is not excessive in value, cannot be construed as a bribe or payoff, and does not violate any applicable law. Illustrative guidelines can be found in Annex B to this Code.
  - (iv) If uncertain as to the reasonability of the gift, activity or situation or compliance with the spirit of the Code Company Personnel should refer to the “Compliance Procedures” set forth in Annex A.
  - (v) Strict rules apply when the Company does business with governmental agencies and officials. All Company Personnel must comply with all laws prohibiting improper payments to domestic and foreign officials, including the Corruption of Foreign Public Officials Act (Canada)<sup>2</sup> and the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977 (U.S.). These laws prohibit the payment to government officials in order to obtain or retain business. Similarly, other governments have laws regarding business gifts that may be accepted by government personnel. The promise, offer or delivery of a gift, favor or other gratuity to an official or employee of any level of government, including political candidates or employees of businesses that are owned by governments, in violation of these laws would not only violate Company policy but could also be a criminal offense.
- (c) Honesty and Fair Dealing – When representing the Company, it is important that Company Personnel deal honestly and fairly with the Company’s joint venture partners, suppliers, customers, professional advisors, competitors, other employees, and anyone else with whom Company Personnel have contact in the course of employment with the Company. Company Personnel should not take any advantage of anyone through actions such as manipulation, concealment, misappropriation or abuse of confidential information, falsification, misrepresentation of material facts, undue influence or any other unfair dealing practice. Company Personnel also should not give any advantage to anyone for reason of personal relationship, personal benefit or other reasons not involving the best interest of the Company.
- (d) Government Relations – Company Personnel may participate in the political process as private citizens. It is important to separate personal political activity and the Company’s political activities, if any, in order to comply with the appropriate rules and regulations relating to lobbying or attempting to influence government officials. The Company’s political activities, if any, shall be subject to the overall direction of the Board. The Company will not reimburse Company Personnel for money or personal time contributed to political campaigns. In addition, Company Personnel may not work on behalf of a candidate’s campaign while at work or at any time use the Company’s facilities for that purpose unless approved by the Chair of the Compensation and Corporate Governance Committee.

<sup>2</sup> This Act prohibits, among other things, offering, promising or giving (or authorizing any of those activities) anything of value, directly or indirectly, to officials of foreign governments or foreign political candidates to influence any of their acts or decisions or to obtain or retain business.

- (e) Competitive Practices – The Company will not enter into arrangements that unlawfully restrict its ability to compete with other businesses, or the ability of any other business organization to compete freely with the Company. The Company’s policy also prohibits Company Personnel from entering into or discussing any unlawful arrangement or understanding that may result in unfair business practices or anti-competitive behavior.

5. Information and Records

- (a) Confidential and Proprietary Information – Company Personnel may be exposed to information relating to the Company and its business that is not known to the general public (“Confidential Information”). “Confidential Information” may be in any form and includes (but is not limited to) reports regarding the Company’s financial affairs, operations, engineering and technical matters, accounting matters, strategic plans, suppliers and exploration as well as information that is otherwise proprietary to the Company including intellectual property (such as trade secrets, patents, trademarks (such as logos), copyrights and exclusive photo images), business, marketing and service plans, policies and procedures manuals, designs, databases, salary information or personal information and any unpublished financial or production data.
  - (i) All such Confidential Information is the sole property of the Company. Company Personnel shall not disclose Confidential Information to persons outside the Company, including family members, and should share it only with other Company Personnel who have a “need to know” unless the disclosure is specifically authorized by the CEO and General Counsel. Company Personnel shall not use such information for any purpose other than as required in the course of employment with the Company. Unauthorized use or distribution of this information would violate Company policy and could be illegal and result in civil or criminal penalties. The obligation to preserve the confidentiality of Confidential Information continues even after Company Personnel cease to have a relationship with the Company.
  - (ii) Company Personnel are responsible and accountable for safeguarding the Company documents and information to which they have direct or indirect access as a result of their employment, officership or directorship with the Company. All Company Personnel must read and agree to abide by the Company’s Corporate Disclosure Policy and Securities Trading Policy.
  - (iii) The foregoing obligations of confidentiality are subject to applicable whistleblower laws, which protect your right to provide information to governmental and regulatory authorities. You are not required to seek the Company’s permission or notify the Company of any communications made in compliance with applicable whistleblower laws, and the Company will not consider such communications to violate this or any other Company policy or any agreement between you and the Company.
- (b) Financial Reporting and Records – The Company requires honest and accurate recording and reporting of information to make responsible business decisions. The Company’s accounting records are relied upon to produce reports for our management, directors, shareholders, governmental agencies and persons with whom the Company does business.

- (i) All of the Company's financial statements and the books, records and accounts on which they are based must appropriately reflect the Company's activities and conform to applicable legal and accounting requirements and to the Company's system of internal controls. Unrecorded or "off the books" funds or assets should not be maintained unless required by applicable law or regulation.
  - (ii) All Company Personnel have a responsibility, within the scope of their positions, to ensure that the Company's accounting records do not contain any false or intentionally misleading entries. The Company does not permit intentional misclassification of transactions as to accounts, departments or accounting records. All transactions must be supported by accurate documentation in reasonable detail and recorded in the proper accounts and in the proper accounting period. Company Personnel should read and abide by the Company's Whistleblower Policy.
  - (iii) Certain Company Personnel may be authorized to use business expense accounts, which must be documented and recorded accurately. If Company Personnel are not sure whether a certain expense is legitimate, a supervisor can provide advice.
- (c) Record Creation and Retention – The Company maintains all records in accordance with laws, rules and regulations regarding retention of business records. The term "business records" covers a broad range of files, reports, business plans, receipts, policies and communications, including hard copy, electronic, audio recording, files whether maintained at work or at home.
- (i) The Company prohibits the unauthorized destruction of or tampering with any records, whether written or in electronic form, where the Company is required by laws, rules or regulations to maintain such records or where it has reason to know of a threatened or pending government investigation or litigation relating to such records.
  - (ii) Business records and communications often become public through legal or regulatory proceedings or the media. Company Personnel should avoid exaggeration, derogatory remarks, guesswork or inappropriate characterizations that can be misunderstood. This requirement applies equally to communications of all kinds, including internal and external e-mail, informal notes, internal memos, and formal reports.

6. Other Company Assets

- (a) Use of Company Assets Generally – All Company Personnel should endeavor to protect the Company's assets (such as funds, products or confidential/proprietary information) and ensure their efficient use. Theft, carelessness, and waste have a direct impact on the Company's profitability. Any suspected incident of fraud or theft should be reported immediately to the department head for investigation and/or in accordance with the Company's Whistle Blower Policy. The Company's assets may be used only for legitimate business purposes. Company equipment should not be used for non- Company business, other than incidental personal use.

- (b) Corporate Opportunities – Company Personnel have a duty of loyalty to the Company, which includes a duty to advance the Company’s legitimate interests when the opportunity to do so arises. Accordingly, Company Personnel may not use their position with the Company or the Company’s name, property, information or good will for personal gain or for the gain of others. Company Personnel are further prohibited from taking advantage of an opportunity that is discovered through the use of any corporate property, information, contacts or employment with the Company. All such opportunities, actual or perceived, should be reported to the immediate supervisor (any supervisor receiving such a report should bring the matter to the attention of the General Counsel).

- (c) Information Technology
  - (i) The Company’s information technology systems, including computers, e-mail, intranet and internet access, telephones and voice mail are the property of the Company and are to be used for business purposes.   - (ii) Electronic documents and messages (including voice-mail, e-mail and SMS) sent, received, created or modified by Company Personnel are considered Company property and Company Personnel should recognize that they are not “personal” or “private”. Unless prohibited by law, the Company reserves the right to access and disclose (both internally and externally) electronic documents and messages, as well as, to specify, configure and restrict its electronic systems as necessary for its business purposes. Company Personnel should use good judgment and not access, send messages or store any information that they would not want to be seen or heard by others.

Annex A

Compliance Procedures

All Company Personnel must work to ensure prompt and consistent action against violations of the Code. Since we cannot anticipate every situation that will arise, it is important that the Company have a way to approach a new question or problem. The following are the steps to keep in mind:

- (a) Make sure you have all the facts. In order to reach the right solutions, we must be as fully informed as possible.
- (b) Ask yourself: What specifically am I being asked to do? Does it seem unethical or improper? This will help you to focus on the specific question you are faced with and the alternatives you have. Use your judgment and common sense – if something seems unethical or improper, it probably is.
- (c) Clarify your responsibility and role. In most situations, there is shared responsibility. Are your colleagues informed? It may help to get others involved and discuss the problem.
- (d) Always ask first, act later: If you are unsure of what to do in any situation, seek guidance before you act. This is the basic guidance for all situations. In many cases, your supervisor will be more knowledgeable about the question, and will appreciate being brought into the decision-making process. Remember that it is your supervisor's responsibility to help solve problems.
- (e) Seek help from Company resources. In the rare case where it may not be appropriate to discuss an issue with your supervisor, or where you do not feel comfortable approaching your supervisor with your question, discuss it locally with your "two-up". If that is not appropriate for any reason, contact the Company's General Counsel/Corporate Secretary.
- (f) You may report violations in confidence and without fear of retaliation. If your situation requires that your identity be kept secret, your anonymity will be protected to the extent possible in the circumstances. The Company does not permit retaliation of any kind against employees for good faith reports of violations. Please refer to the Company's Whistleblower Policy for more detail.
